

XXXV International Seminar on Stability Problems for Stochastic Models Second Information Letter

XXXV International Seminar on Stability Problems for Stochastic Models (ISSPSM-2018) will be held in Perm, Russia from 24 to 28 of September 2018 under the auspices of Perm State University (PSU), Faculty of Computational Mathematics and Cybernetics of the Lomonosov Moscow State University and Institute of Informatics Problems of the Federal Research Scientific Center "Computer Science and Control" of the Russian Academy of Sciences.

Seminars on Stability Problems for Stochastic Models have a long tradition. The famous Russian scientist Vladimir Zolotarev founded these seminars in the 1970's. Leading specialists in probability theory and mathematical statistics from all over the world are participants of the seminars. The traditional aim of Seminars is to bring together people from Europe, Asia and other continents to share their expertise and new results, to exchange the ideas and to discuss open problems. Previous three Seminars took place in Debrecen, Hungary (2017), Svetlogorsk, Russia (2016) and Trondheim, Norway (2014).

The city of Perm is located in the East of the European part of Russia, in the foothills of the Urals, on the banks of the Kama River that is the fourth longest river in Europe. Perm is the center of the Perm Krai (Region). The population is about 1,050,000 people (2017). The area of the city is about 720 km². Perm is a large industrial, scientific and cultural center of Russia. The name Perm is of Finno-Ugric etymology, likely of Uralic origin. It is believed that the name of the city came from the Vepsian word perämaa that means "far-away land". Among museums of Perm, the Perm Art Gallery is widely known for its collection of wooden sculptures as well as a large collection of ancient Russian icons and paintings by famous Russian artists such as Levitan, Repin, Savrasov, Serov and others. Perm is widely known for theatricals with its opera and ballet theater.

The ISSPSM-2018 will take place on the base of the main campus of Perm State University, Russia (Perm, Bukirev st., 15; www.psu.ru). The local organizer is the Faculty of Mechanics and Mathematics at PSU.
